

How to Help Someone Experiencing Emotional Distress

O Look for the FACTS:

Hopelessness, excessive worry, FEELINGS burdensomeness, rejection, worthlessness Impulsiveness, self-harm, increased drug or alcohol use, giving away ACTIONS possessions, looking for a way to die such as saving up pills, gaining access to a gun, or searching online Particularly in the presence of other warning signs; changes in attitude, CHANGES moods, behaviors, or social connection; sudden change in sleep or eating habits Specific or vague statements or any expression of death or suicide; can THRFATS be written, spoken, activity on social media, or non-verbal threats Life changes that cause the person to be overwhelmed, unprepared, SITUATIONS or triggered, such as personal loss, connection to death, bullying or abuse, failures, or getting in trouble

2 Use Active Listening

DO

Actively listen. Allow them to vent and unload their feelings.

Be sympathetic and non-judgmental.

Encourage them to talk about their feelings, even if it is hard to hear.

Offer hope. Reassure them that help is available and suicidal feelings are temporary.

Take them seriously. Ask if they are having thoughts of suicide. You are allowing them to share their pain, not giving them ideas.

DON'T

Argue. Avoid saying phrases like: "You have so much to live for", "your suicide will hurt your family" or "snap out of it".

Promise confidentiality or secrecy.

Offer ways to fix problems or give advice.

3 Connect to Help

Call for help immediately in an emergency where there is risk of immediate harm to the person or others. If you are uncomfortable helping it is OK, but you need to tell someone else about your concerns ASAP. You can also connect someone to these resources, through 3-way call if necessary, when things are escalating and you no longer feel comfortable helping alone.
